Consumer Protection

Price and volume growth

+ Price increases in ongoing challenging market environment to pass through rising raw material prices
+ Positive volume development, especially in F&F and water purification business
– Ongoing weak agro industry held back earnings
○ Q3 2025 EBITDA pre and margin supported by take-or-pay-contract (~€10 m) and release of variable compensation provisions in PY

Specialty Additives

Successful pricing offsets higher raw material costs

+ Strong pricing, successfully passing through significantly higher input costs
+ Volumes improved overall; Rhein Chemie benefits from customers' focus on European supply security
+ Cost saving measures show traction, earnings and margins improved
– Demand from construction & auto remains weak

Sales YoY

Advanced Intermediates

Pricing measures to compensate cost inflation while demand remains weak

+ Price increases esp. in Advanced Industrial Intermediates to compensate higher raw material and energy costs
– Slightly negative volumes due to ongoing competitive pressure and unchanged weakness in construction and agro chemicals
– Increasing energy costs and additional logistic costs (high single-digit m € amount) due to low Rhine River water levels burden results

Free cash flow

Improved

Cash flow focus as priority

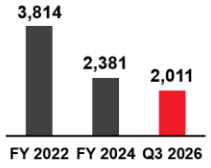

Net working capital

Tightly managed

WC nearly stable; volume reduction in inventory more than offsets cost inflation – DSI reduced

Net financial debt

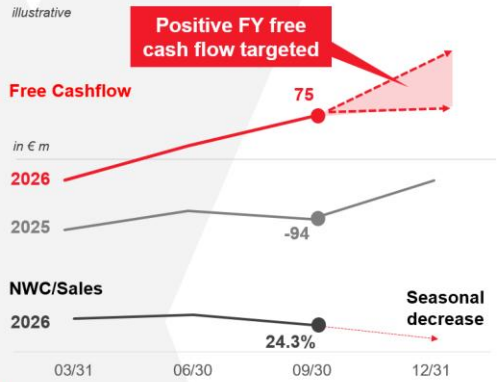

Visible decrease

Supported by strong cash generation

* Days of sales in inventory

FY 2026 guidance specified:

Our view on economic environment

- Significant macro-economic uncertainties persist, intensified by Middle East conflict
- Higher energy costs
- Demand particularly in construction, agro and auto industry to remain weak

LANXESS outlook

- Considerations for Q4
  - Continued cost streamlining to mitigate inflation, savings back-end loaded (total FY 2026: €65 m)
  - Support from EU Anti-Dumping
  - Seasonally weaker
  - Beginning of quarter still impacted by low Rhine River water levels

We specify our guidance:

Upper end of €450 – 500 m EBITDA pre with a continued positive free cash flow in Q4
